

Sprint 1 Report, ParkMe, ParkMe Team, 2/2/23

Actions to stop doing:

Stop developing on the development branch so we can avoid race conditions.

Letting meetings flow too long and unproductive

Waiting for others to complete their work before starting something new

Pushing back work because other classes work is more pressing

Actions to start doing:

Give clear objectives for meetings and stick with them

Begin following the standard naming convention of feature/ or bug/ for our branches.

Start meeting after class briefly to discuss what everyone has done, will do today, and will do tomorrow for no more than 10 min. Additionally, set a time to meet outside of class for project planning/refactoring.

Create more detailed list of features, bugs, updates that need to be done

Document endpoints and features in the project in order to understand how to connect the items/data/variables throughout the stack

Keep track of meetings and recap what was talked about and what work was completed

Actions to keep doing:

Keep meeting over discord calls nightly

Keep meeting in person at least twice a week collectively
